

The Role of Compliance in Facing the Scrutiny of Audits

DESCRIPTION

Recent media articles, court cases, audits and regulatory proposals certainly cast a more negative vision of future possibilities when it comes to the success of our Post-Acute Nursing and Rehab Services. We are under scrutiny for the utilization of benefits for the services we offer. We all say we are doing the right thing. We all know we are doing the right thing. However, very few of us have concrete data to prove it. The changing reimbursement system will necessitate a transparent quantifiable delivery model. In this session, participants will review how the reimbursement system is changing and evolving. The instructors will review case study examples to reinforce the importance of documentation and measurable outcomes. Also, learn about how NASL (National Support for Long Term Care) is teaming up with other trade organizations to utilize outcomes data to influence regulatory policy. At the conclusion of this session, attendees will learn how an effective compliance program will assist you in the event of the auditing process.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

1. Attendees will be able to understand the potential impact of pay-for-performance and how this will influence our clinical delivery.
2. Attendees will learn the importance of measuring quantifiable clinical outcomes.
3. Attendees will learn how to incorporate their values into an effective compliance program.