

KYLE JANSSEN PHARM.D.

FOUNDER

COMMUNITY PHARMACY

When Kyle Janssen was still in pharmacy school, thoughts of running one of the top long-term care pharmacy operations in the Midwest were far from his mind. He enjoyed the science, and was simply focused on finding a career path that would involve helping people. But after founding and owning two retail pharmacies, an opportunity to care for those in senior care settings presented itself, and in 2007 he created Community Pharmacy.

Under Kyle's leadership in the years since, Community Pharmacy grew to serve long-term care customers in Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Kansas, Missouri and Arizona. "It was built on what I'd call our distinctly Midwestern values, and a focus on patient safety and customer service," he says. Community Pharmacy was one of the first in the entire country to certify Electronic Health Records as safe for use, and the electronic processes and technology he spearheaded has helped make customer facilities more efficient and deliver better care. In a strategic alliance, Community Pharmacy joined the Consonus Healthcare family of services in 2021.

Kyle attended Northwest Missouri State University on a baseball scholarship before graduating from the University of Nebraska Medical Center with a doctorate in Pharmacy. He serves in leadership positions on various national and regional boards, including the Nebraska Health Care Foundation, Managed Healthcare Associates and Cardinal Health LTC Advisory.

He's been married to Kimberlee, his high school sweetheart, for more than 18 years, and they're raising their three children in Gretna, Neb., where they were both born and grew up. Outside of work, Kyle is heavily involved on a volunteer basis with youth programs, coaching sports and participating in the local school board. He's a huge baseball fan, and is on a life-long quest to attend a game in every major league park.
